

May Nothing Evil Cross This Door

T: Louis Untermeyer (1885–1977), © Harcourt Brave Lovanovich 1951
M: Robert N. Quaille (1867–?) arr. Henning Hraban Ramm (1973–)
Q: „Singing the Living Tradition“, Boston 1993, Unitarian Universalist Association

May no - thing e - vil cross this door, and may ill
By faith made strong, the raf - ters will stand the Peace shall walk soft - ly through these rooms, tou - ching our
With laugh - ter drown the rau - cous shout, and, though these

for - tune ne - ver pry a - bout these win - dows;
bat - tering of the storm. This hearth though all the lips with ho - the wine, may they ev - ry be strong the shel - tering walls are thin, may they ry be strong the may the roar and rain go by.

world grow chill, will keep you warm.
cor - ner hate blooms out in - and hold a love shrine.
keep hate out and hold a love in.